Funny Stories about Married Life

A police officer jumps into his squad car and calls the station.

"I have an interesting case here," he says. "A woman shot her husband for stepping on the floor she just mopped."

"Have you arrested her?" asks the sergeant.

"No, not yet. The floor's still wet."

To be happy with a man, you must understand him a lot and love him a little.

To be happy with a woman, you must love her a lot and not try to understand her at all.

Karol, the bride to be, upon her engagement, went to her mother and told her, 'I've found a man just like father.'

Her mother replied, 'So, Karol, what do you want from me, sympathy?'

The day before Thanksgiving, a man in Ohio calls his adult son in Michigan.

"Son, I've had enough, after 40 years of marriage, I've decided to leave your mother."

The son hysterically responds: "Dad, this cannot be happening. Don't do a thing until we get there to talk some sense into you!"

The son then calls his sister in Illinois who becomes equally hysterical. She also calls her father: "Dad, we're not going to let this happen, you and mom stay put, we'll be there tomorrow to work things out!"

The father hung up the phone, looked at his wife and said: "The kids are coming for Thanksgiving and they're paying their own way."

A man and his wife were having some problems at home and were giving each other the silent treatment. Suddenly, the man realized that the next day, he would need his wife to wake him at 5:00 AM for an early morning business flight.

Not wanting to be the first to break the silence (and LOSE), he wrote on a piece of paper, "Please wake me at 5:00 AM." He left it where he knew she would find it.

The next morning, the man woke up at 9:00 AM and he had missed his flight. Furious, he was about to go and see why his wife hadn't wakened him, when he noticed a piece of paper by the bed.

The paper said, "It is 5:00 AM. Wake up."

An insurance salesman was trying to persuade, Mrs Warren, a housewife, to buy a life insurance policy.

'Just imagine,' he pronounced, 'if your husband was to die tomorrow, what would you get?'

'Oh, a Yorkshire terrier dog, I think,' responded Mrs Warren brightly, 'they're so well-behaved.'

A man feared his wife was not hearing as well as she used to, and he thought she might need a hearing aid. Not quite sure how to approach her, he called the family doctor to discuss the problem.

The doctor told him there is a simple informal test the husband could perform to give the doctor a better idea about her hearing loss. 'Here's what you do,' said the doctor. 'Stand about 40 feet away from her and in a normal conversational speaking tone see if she hears you. If not, go to 30 feet, then 20 feet, and so on until you get a response.'

That evening, the wife is in the kitchen cooking dinner, and he was in the den. He says to himself, 'I'm about 40 feet away. Let's see what happens.' In a normal tone he asks, 'Honey, what's for dinner?'

No response.

So the husband moves closer to the kitchen, about 30 feet from his wife, and repeats, 'Honey, what's for dinner?'

Still no response.

Next he moves into the dining room where he is about 20 feet from his wife and asks, 'Honey, What's for dinner?'

Again, no response.

So, he walks up to the kitchen door, about 10 feet away. 'Honey, What's for dinner?'

Again, there is no response.

So he walks right up behind her. 'Honey, what's for dinner?'

'Earl, for the 5th time, CHICKEN!'

After Adam stayed out late a few nights, Eve became suspicious.

"You're running around with another woman! admit it!" she demanded.

"What other woman?" Adam shot back. "You're the only other human!"

That night, Adam was fast asleep when he was awakened by Eve poking him in the chest.

"What are you doing?" "Counting your ribs."
