Thank You Moms

By Avery Jackson

Everyone has a mother, and some people have extra moms that they have adopted over the years. Moms are our biggest cheerleader, our greatest advocate, and our best friend.

A true mother thinks day and night about the well-being of her children. She is the first to praise and comfort them and is also the first to protect them when she senses danger. It was she who carried them and bore the pains of pregnancy and childbirth, and it is she who now continues to carry them in her heart.

A mother's sensitivity and love are boundless. She will continue to hope for her children long after others have given up on them, and pray for them even when everyone else has condemned them. Moreover, she will believe for them when they have ceased to believe.

A good mother is a role model for her immediate family and for everyone else she meets. Her joy makes those around her happy.

Take a moment and reflect on your mother today! Ask yourself who you can continue to mentor as a mom. Thank you moms, for all you have done for us, and all you continue to do!

You know You're a Mom When...

1. Instead of running from projectile vomit, you run towards it.
2. A trip to the grocery store alone is your idea of a spontaneous getaway.
3. You can't remember the last time you ate a meal while it was still hot.
4. You take it personally when strangers don't wave back to your baby.
5. You cry with happiness when one of your children consents to eating broccoli.
6. Coffee is one of your love languages.
7. You have sung the same song a trillion times, and you have several story books memorized.
8. You loathe having to match socks.
9. You know you're a mom if you've ever stuck a pacifier in your mouth just to clean it off!
10. You know you're a mom if every time you go to the bathroom your 2.5 year-old comes with you, hands you the toilet paper, demands to see the contents of the toilet, flushes for you and applauds you.
11. You never loved someone more.

God could not be everywhere, & therefore he made mothers.
